

Jewell Station Precinct Development

Car park closure and station access changes

Thursday 18 January 2018

The Jewell Station Precinct Development project is being delivered by developer Neometro and VicTrack, and will transform the area with two new retail and residential buildings and improvements to the public realm to make it safer and more accessible.

There will be no changes to train timetables during the works.

Permanent closure of car park

From Thursday 18 January 2018 the Jewell Station car park will permanently close.

Diversion to the Upfield shared user path

From Thursday 18 January 2018 the path will divert via Barkly Street, Black Street and Wilson Avenue.

Pedestrians should allow an extra five minutes to access the city-bound platform from Barkly Street, or walk via the western side of the station precinct. Cyclists should allow extra time to pass through the precinct.

For your own safety, please follow the signs.

Thank you for your patience during construction.
